The Petroleum County Public Library Board of Trustees gratefully acknowledges the many fine contributions which have made this book possible. Without the dedicated work and support which volunteers gave to the project, there could not and would not have been a book. This is truly a Petroleum County book made possible by the county’s past and present residents. It would take an additional chapter for the trustees to personally thank all of the individuals for their contributions. The board hopes the final product will serve as a reward and a “thank you.”

A number of people outside of Petroleum County contributed time and expertise which added immeasurably to the accuracy and thoroughness of the work. Special thanks goes to Florence Kettering and the staff of the Carnegie Library of Lewistown, Montana; the Central Montana Genealogical Society; Fergus County Superintendent of Schools Shirley Barrick; Roland Jorgensen of the Bureau of Land Management; and personnel of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Great Falls, Montana. In addition, the Montana Historical Society in Helena answered requests for pictures and information quickly and efficiently. The Lewistown News-Argus staff were cooperative and patient in the printing and the layout of the book. Many other individuals gave encouragement and support with proofreading and editing. Marilyn Miller, Elizabeth Cameron, Anna Zellic, Vivian Paladin, Rebecca Writtenhouse, Dr. Richard Shannon, Kathiann Ammsien and Jim Carroll deserve special thanks for their patience, and sometimes tedious, service.

In addition to private and public records, a number of published and unpublished manuscripts, maps and books have been used as source material and to verify facts and dates. The material in the following bibliography is recommended reading for those who are interested in further details of local and Montana history. Almost without exception, the published books are available in the Petroleum County Community Library or through the library’s inter-library loan program. Many of the unpublished documents have been donated to the library for its permanent history file.
